

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a method for producing a non-human A mammal with a prostatic tumor. The invention also relates to a prostatic tumor and an established cell line which can form a prostatic tumor in dogs after grafting has occurred. The invention further relates to specific monoclonal antibodies of prostatic tumoral cells and to the use thereof in diagnosis or therapy.